CAST MEMBERS MAKE A SPLASH FOR 66TH ANNIVERSARY

"IT'S A SMALL WORLD" CAST MEMBERS STRIKE A POSE IN FRONT OF THE ATTRACTION, WHICH IS CELEBRATING 55 YEARS SINCE IT FIRST OPENED AT DISNEYLAND PARK.

In recognition of everything they do, Disneyland Resort cast members are celebrated in a week of festivities during the anniversary of Disneyland each year. After all, there would be no magic without cast members! Cast members enjoyed free food, attraction experiences, after-hours celebrations in the parks, photo opportunities, giveaways and Duck Races.

You read that right! As one of the most beloved cast-exclusive events, cast members were ecstatic about the return of Duck Races this year. Cast members purchased and decorated $5 rubber ducks (with all proceeds benefiting Goodwill of Orange County) and raced them through "it's a small world" before the park opened to guests.

After the ducks set off on the happiest cruise that ever sailed, cast members eagerly waited outside the attraction to see which duck would return first from its trip around the world. Shouts of excitement were heard as the duck that took the lead sailed out of the attraction, decorated by Ruth Duarte from Star Wars: Galaxy's Edge.

"I'm not a morning person, so I actually feel amazing today coming out as first place," said Duarte, merchandise host. When asked about her duck, she said: "I really like the character Ahsoka Tano from Star Wars: The Clone Wars. Her character is very inspirational, and I think everybody can be an Ahsoka."

After the last duck finished its cruise, cast members took to Fantasyland to experience favorite classic attractions.

Proceeds from the rubber duck sales benefit Goodwill of Orange County to help people who are facing challenges and barriers find jobs. "We are proud to be a longtime partner of Disneyland Resort and so grateful to be the nonprofit recipient of this year's Duck Races," said Nicole Suydam, president and CEO, Goodwill of Orange County. "Our mission work to help people facing barriers find and keep meaningful employment is more important than ever, and we are committed to providing support, trainings and opportunities for everyone who wants to work."

"It was exciting to be together this year to celebrate the 66th anniversary of this very special place and to recognize our incredible cast members who bring Walt Disney's dream to life every day. Exclusive events like the Duck Races, after-hours attraction experiences and surprise giveaways were just a few of the fun ways we marked this milestone and celebrated our cast for all they do to bring joy and happiness to our guests."

The Magic of Mentorship

High school is the perfect time for students to develop soft skills, build a resume and explore career options through real-life experience.

For the second year, Disneyland Resort partnered with Anaheim Union High School District to support Anaheim's Innovative Mentoring Experience (AIME). Through the AIME internship program, high school students are paired with mentors to learn the ins and outs of an organization, prepare for the demands of college and career life, and make lasting personal and professional connections.

This year, six students were selected as mentees of Disneyland Resort professionals in the areas of experience integration, industrial engineering, finance, marketing, human resources and public affairs.

"Disney's mentorship program helped give me great insight into the opportunities and jobs in the workplace," said Hannah Jang, an incoming senior at Oxford Academy in Anaheim. "Besides the overviews Disney organized for us, my personal mentor helped arrange meet and greets for me with other

COOL DISNEY JOBS

WELCOME TO THE WORLD-FAMOUS JUNGLE CRUISE!

FLOR TORRES

Jungle Cruise Skipper

Hometown: San Luis Potosí, Mexico

Years with the company: 9

Q. Please tell us about your role as a Jungle Cruise Skipper at Disneyland park.

A. The main characters in our story are our guests as they journey through the jungle rivers of the world. As skippers of the Jungle Navigation Company Ltd., we are storytellers and play a supporting role in helping our guests navigate through the mystery and danger that lurk around every corner of the jungle.

Q. What is the best part about your role as a Jungle Cruise Skipper?

A. The best part about the role of a Jungle Cruise Skipper is the unique live narration aspect, as each skipper gets to bring their own style and personality to the cruise. Often times we share jokes, and if anyone has gone on a cruise a few times before, they may hear the same one retold. But what makes each jungle tour a brand-new experience is the different personalities, voices and distinctive delivery of the spiel that each skipper brings to the table.

Q. What is your favorite new moment on the rivers?

A. My favorite new moment on the Jungle Cruise has to be Trader Sam's Gift Shop. There is a lot for our guests to see and enjoy in this new show scene. The monkeys have found a fun hangout spot next to Ellie the elephant, and this show scene is the new home for our hornbill, which previously sat in the Jungle Cruise queue.

Q. Tell us your go-to skipper joke or pun.

A. I once worked in a mirror factory, but after some reflection, I changed careers and came to the jungle.

Q. What are you most looking forward to our guests experiencing on the Jungle Cruise?

A. One of the things that I am looking forward to our guests experiencing on the Jungle Cruise is the more in-depth story we are sharing. Skipper Felix, who is new around the dock, has taken our VIPs — including a member of the Society of Explorers and Adventurers — on a tour and unfortunately got them all chased up a tree by a rhino. There is something new for all of our guests to experience as all of our new show scenes are fun to enjoy all on their own.

Q. What does it mean to you to be a part of one of the most iconic opening day attractions at Disneyland park?

A. It has been an absolute privilege to get to be a part of this iconic attraction. This role is important to many generations of skippers who share a common love and excitement for what we do. We have a saying here: "Once a skip, always a skip." Our crew really takes it to heart. This role also holds a special place for many of our visitors as oftentimes guests approach us after a fun cruise and tell us, "I would love to do what you do!" We play an important supporting role in sharing the story about the jungle and the mysteries that lie around every turn, while getting to poke fun and make jokes about what we see and experience.

SKIPPER SPOTLIGHTS

“I am so excited to be back in the jungle making some magic. I can't wait for guests to see all the new show scenes.”

- ALEXIS, JUNGLE CRUISE SKIPPER

“It's the best job in the park. Being a Jungle Cruise Skipper means I get to take guests out on boats, tell jokes and spend a lot of one-on-one time with them. There's a new, different story and I'm really excited to jump into that and experience it with everyone.”

- CHRISTINE, JUNGLE CRUISE SKIPPER

“I'm so excited for our guests to see all the brand-new show scenes and all the good elements that we're bringing to life. It's super exciting to bring that magic back.”

- STEPHANY, JUNGLE CRUISE LEAD

THE GNUS IS OUT ABOUT THE JUNGLE CRUISE

Hit it, Skip!

Continuing a tradition that Walt Disney started more than six decades ago, Walt Disney Imagineering has developed new scenes and enhancements to the iconic Jungle Cruise attraction. These updates elevate the storytelling while keeping with the legendary comedic tone that guests know and love. The attraction's back story is expanding to now center around Alberta Falls, granddaughter of world-renowned Dr. Albert Falls, who acts as the proprietor of the Jungle Navigation Company Ltd. Alberta Falls hopes all passengers experience the beauty and grandeur of the jungle with a crew of witty and knowledgeable tour guides.

Carmen Smith, Walt Disney Imagineering executive of Creative Development & Inclusion Strategies, stated, "As Imagineers, it is our responsibility to ensure experiences we create and stories we share reflect the voices and perspectives of the world around us."

The enhancements include several new scenes and characters from around the world that guests will experience along the river and will heighten the skippers' legendary comedic tone. Unexpected scenarios along the way will give the jungle and animals the last laugh, such as a trapped safari party that finds itself up a tree after their journey goes awry.

As Alberta Falls would say, "... we all have our own amazingly unpredictable adventures to live and stories to tell."

professionals at Disney so that I was able to better narrow down what career I would like to explore in the next stage of my life journey in college."

By the end of the six-week internship, the students created an integrated business plan and presentation for a hypothetical theme park event. Meanwhile, their mentors felt a great sense of pride after witnessing how much the students had developed and learned during their time together.

"I know I speak for everyone around the resort who had time with these students when I say how impressed we were by them," said Corporate Citizenship Manager Katie Marquez, who helped facilitate the internship experience. "Because this year's format was virtual, we thought we might lose some of the magic we are known for, but these students and their mentors created a type of magic we never expected. This is an incredibly rewarding program for all of us at the Disneyland Resort and we hope the students found it equally as rewarding. We can't wait to see where these students go next in their educations and careers."

Supporting the AIME internship program is part of the resort's workforce development initiative to provide mentorship and career readiness opportunities to Anaheim students and residents. Through this effort, the resort also offers funding to help support nonprofit workforce programming in Anaheim and career development workshops to hundreds of local students and job seekers.

CAST LIFE

Cue the Fireworks!

By Matt Nixon

"Mickey's Mix Magic" is back at Disneyland park, and cast members got a surprise sneak preview just before the show returned nightly beginning July 4.

"We've been waiting a long time for this to come back," said Kevin Velazquez, merchandise cast member. "Every day is a magical day here, but this is how you end the night properly at the Disneyland Resort."

Senior Technical Director Joseph Peters, who has worked at the resort for 38 years, manages the lighting and effects for the show and is thrilled to be bringing back this guest favorite.

"With 'Mickey's Mix Magic,' we wanted to do a bigger 'kiss goodnight' [as Walt Disney called it]," said Peters. "It's a party atmosphere as you're leaving the park."

With one projector on Matterhorn Bobsleds, three on "it's a small world," five on Sleeping Beauty Castle, 14 on Main Street, U.S.A., and over 100 moving lights across 10 rooftops, this party is one to be experienced throughout the park. Add in fireworks and guests can enjoy the magic from anywhere in the resort!

Joseph's team works in partnership with the pyrotechnic team to make the magic happen. "Everybody comes together for the show — we're all one team," he said. That team has thought through everything, even providing unique vantage points for guests who visit the parks regularly. While there are more detailed effects on Main Street, U.S.A. and Sleeping Beauty Castle, "it's a small world" offers a larger view of the video feature.

"The upbeat music and the laser portion are different than any other show we've done," said Peters. "It's a dance party from the minute it starts to the minute it ends — it's just non-stop energy."

INNOVATION

3 WAYS THE DISNEYLAND RESORT TRANSFORMED IN THE ERA OF COVID-19

The pandemic tested businesses across the globe, including the Disneyland Resort — requiring the resort to adapt, innovate and accelerate changes already underway to enhance the guest experience.

With a growing emphasis on technology, the Disneyland Resort expanded digital offerings, while creating new park experiences for guests to discover. As the resort continues to invest in the guest experience, it has introduced new innovations to manage capacity, provide unique experiences and reinvent the theme park for the future.

1 RESERVATION SYSTEM

For some time, the Disneyland Resort has been focused on managing capacity to ensure a great guest experience. With new capacity guidelines from health authorities, an entirely new reservation system was introduced to help the resort manage attendance in its theme parks. The new reservation system provides guests with convenience and confidence in booking a park visit ahead of time, especially during peak visiting seasons.

2 UNIQUE EXPERIENCES

During a time when strict health and safety protocols were in place, the Disneyland Resort quickly adapted experiences to allow guests to continue enjoying them in new ways. New dining experiences such as Carthay Circle Lounge — Alfresco Dining provided a beautiful outdoor dining terrace for guests to enjoy culinary delights from the indoor restaurant when indoor dining was prohibited. The resort also innovated new ways for guests to interact with the stories around them, including seeing their favorite characters in ways that accommodated physical distancing requirements such as character cavalcades.

3 GOING DIGITAL

More guests than ever before are using the Disneyland app for a variety of offerings and experiences, from ordering food or booking a dining reservation to joining a virtual queue for an attraction, checking attraction wait times or paying for a merchandise item in one of the stores. Guests are also able to use the app for contactless payments and ticketless entry to the parks.

TIPS FROM DISNEY EXPERT

Mental and Emotional Well-Being

Mental and emotional well-being is more important than ever. With all the changes and challenges we've been faced with in the last 15 months, there's no question why people have turned to wellness resources for support with stress, anxiety, mental health and overall emotional well-being.

Because there is no one-size-fits-all approach, Disney offers a variety of easy-to-access and innovative programs that meet the unique needs of our cast members and employees, especially when support and care are needed most.

At Disney Parks, Experiences and Products, Chief Medical Officer Dr. Pamela Hymel has supported cast members by answering questions, giving advice and helping to highlight the plethora of emotional support resources available. Read on for some helpful mental health tips from Dr. Pam below.

1 Talk to Someone. Whether it's a family member, friend or a professional, talking through how you're feeling is extremely valuable. There are many options to get help virtually, too, such as apps like Talkspace. Cast members and their household members have access to Talkspace in addition to counselors and therapists through the Employee Assistance Program, which allows them to find someone who fits their individual needs and can help them through whatever they may be going through.

2 Get some Headspace. Headspace is another app cast members have access to. Guided meditations, like the ones you can find in the Headspace app, are a quick and easy way to get in-the-moment self-service support. Whether you're looking for help falling asleep, managing your anxiety, or just being a little more mindful throughout your day, Headspace has a variety of programs and videos to meet your needs. Get the Headspace app or visit Headspace.com.

3 Move More. Taking time to be physically active can help get those feel-good endorphins firing. It's also a great way to manage stress. If your schedule doesn't allow you to exercise as often as you'd like, you can still enjoy its benefits by adapting your daily routine. You can try parking in a spot further from where you're going, taking the stairs instead of the elevator or even standing or walking during commercial breaks in front of the TV. Good habits like these can help you with small, but significant, improvements in your overall emotional, mental and physical health.

4 Find Your Flow. While yoga may not be for everyone, it certainly does have its benefits. Yoga can soothe tension in the mind and body. It also helps to develop awareness, which can help focus attention and allow us to become more present. Practicing yoga can also improve your sleep and increase your energy, while decreasing stress and even blood pressure.

5 Catch some ZZZs. Poor sleep can contribute to increased stress, mood swings and even anxiety. Try to aim for between seven and nine hours of sleep each night and focus on developing a healthy bedtime routine. Don't forget to leave the phones, tablets, laptops and other tech gadgets out of the bedroom and try to take a break from the screens prior to getting into bed.

6 Eat Healthy. Did you know that the foods we eat can impact how we feel? When we fuel our body with what it needs (healthy nutrients!), it helps to reduce stress and give us more energy.

7 Happy Hobbies. Don't knock it 'til you try it! There are many hobbies and activities out there that can help curb your stress and allow you to be more mindful and present in the moment. See which everyday activity brings you joy — coloring, photography, fishing, gardening, reading a book or even cooking a healthy meal. Of course, each of us have different needs and experiences, so make sure to do what works best for you!

DIVERSITY & INCLUSION

FINDING A PLACE TO BELONG

By Ryan Waldo, Fantasyland Cashier

My adventure of being a cast member started with the Disney College Program in 2018, which kicked off the amazing journey that I'm currently on to find out who I am. My name is Ryan Waldo, and I have Achondroplasia, which is the most common type of Dwarfism.

After graduating college, I had to figure out my next steps in what I wanted to do. Finding a job as a little person can be challenging, but I applied to the Disney College Program with the hope they could accommodate me. Little did I know, being a cashier would lead to so many incredible moments.

I don't often see people like me — from going to school, playing on a sports team or hanging out with friends. When I first started working at the Disneyland Resort, I saw one cast member who was a little person, the next day I saw another, and I began to realize that I wasn't the only one at the resort. I've come to understand that representation in my fellow cast helps me feel like I belong.

One evening, I was working at Rancho del Zocalo in Disneyland park. A family walked into the restaurant, and I greeted them as I would any guest. A member of their family was a little person, and the first thing that person said was, "Hey mom, he's just like me." That simple statement hit me deep, and I had to take a minute to collect myself. That moment was a catalyst — I knew then that I wanted to be more involved. I didn't know how until I joined ENABLED.

ENABLED is one of seven Business Employee Resource Groups (BERGs) that support diversity equity and inclusion at The Walt Disney Company. ENABLED focuses on inclusion for people with disabilities. We have members of our BERG who identify as part of the community and those who are allies, passionate about advocating for people with disabilities. Together we educate, empower and enable the business to be better. I was first introduced to ENABLED during a Disney College Program leadership session. I introduced myself to the speaker, who connected me with the ENABLED leadership team. I quickly realized I had found my tribe and discovered how I wanted to make an impact

CELEBRATING ALL ABILITIES

July 25 marks the 31st anniversary of the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) and Disneyland Resort Business Employee Resource Group (BERG) ENABLED is on a journey to educate, empower and enable with events for cast members.

The ENABLED BERG aims to bring a sense of belonging to cast members at the Disneyland Resort who identify with, support or provide allyship to members of the disabled community. In honor of Disability Pride Month, ENABLED is hosting events focusing on the dimensions of diversity throughout the disability community including panel discussions, a mobility obstacle course, opportunities to learn simple American Sign Language (ASL) signs and conversations that raise awareness about different types of disabilities.

during my time as a cast member — not only for myself, but for guests and other cast members.

Being unique can have its challenges, but it can also bring cool opportunities. Finding like-minded people can help anyone feel like they belong. I always like to share that any time you meet people different than you, try to learn more about them as a person, hear their story and be an advocate for them. Don't assume what someone can or can't do — not all disabilities are visible. But most importantly, just be kind. We are all in this adventure together.

BUSINESS

A Milestone Moment: All Hotels of the Disneyland Resort are Now Reopened

By Yvonne Lee

When the Disneyland Hotel first opened its doors in 1955, it quickly became an iconic location and helped catapult Anaheim into becoming a top vacation destination.

Earlier this month, the hotel marked another significant milestone: reopening its doors after nearly a year and a half of closure. The moment marked the reopening of all three hotels of the Disneyland Resort since they temporarily closed during the pandemic.

"The Disneyland Hotel is ready to make magic again! It is truly a wonderful feeling to have the Disneyland Hotel cast back as they are the heart and soul of this property," said Ron Silagy, general manager, Disneyland Hotel. "Our cast are thrilled to be able to welcome back our loyal guests and get back to what they do best: Creating memories that last a lifetime."

The Fantasy Tower is the first of the three hotel towers to reopen, and guests will get to experience many of their familiar favorites and enjoy fresh updates to the upholstery and fabrics in the guest rooms.

In the days leading up to reopening, cast members of the Disneyland Hotel eagerly prepared to welcome back guests, putting finishing touches all around the hotel and taking a moment to celebrate this milestone together.

"I love to make magic for our guests, and I love working with other cast members to make people happy. I am just so excited to be back, and I know our cast can't wait to be here."

-Julie Gulsrud, Tangaroa Terrace Tropical Bar & Grill

"We are so excited to welcome guests back to our property and create magic for them. One of my favorite moments is inviting the children to enjoy the waterslides. It's an amazing feeling to see the joy in their eyes and their faces light up."

-Alex Garcia, Lifeguard

"I think a lot of guests have created a lot of special memories at our hotel — from visiting at Trader Sam's [Enchanted Tiki Bar] to having a special signature suite at the hotel. I think getting to come back to this familiar place will be really magical for them."
